

- Briefly describe two factors that determine whether a collision between two molecules will lead to a chemical reaction.