

Marks
3

- An alloy is formed by combining elements A and B. The alloy has a face-centred cubic structure, with atoms of A at the corners and atoms of B in the faces. What is the formula of the alloy? Explain your reasoning.

Answer: