

- Benzoic acid has a low solubility in water at pH 7, but is very soluble in aqueous solutions of greater pH. Explain this observation, using chemical equations where appropriate.

2