

- NADH is the most important reducing agent in Nature. It is itself oxidised to NAD^+ . Complete the scheme below by:
 - drawing in curly arrows to show the movement of electrons during the first step in the reduction of acetone with NADH, and
 - drawing the structure of NAD^+ .

