

- An aqueous solution with a volume of 10.0 mL contains 0.025 g of a purified protein of unknown molecular weight. The osmotic pressure of the solution was measured in an osmometer to be 0.0036 atm at 20.0 °C. Assuming ideal behaviour and no dissociation of the protein, estimate its molar mass.

3

Answer: