

Marks
3

- Many elemental metals crystallise in one of three cubic forms, either with a face-centred cubic, a body-centred cubic or a simple cubic unit cell. Explain the main differences and similarities between these different crystalline forms.